

YOUR CHOICE AT THE EU ELECTIONS: Brexit Chaos with Farage, or a Public Vote with Labour.

Labour candidates in the South West believe in giving people a say over our future.

The Brexit deal on offer is not the one promised three years ago. There must be another public vote on whatever Tory deal is approved in Westminster.

Together we can beat Farage's poisonous politics and move towards the reality of a confirmatory vote, with Remain on the ballot.

Clare Moody MEP is proud to have represented the South West in the European Parliament since 2014.

'Brexit will harm our region and our country, and as an MEP for millions of people, I cannot support something that I know will be detrimental, disadvantageous and downright damaging to the people. I came into politics to represent - that is why we must have a public vote with the option to Remain on the ballot paper.'

Andrew Adonis is a former Transport Secretary and Schools Minister.

'I pioneered major regeneration and infrastructure investment across the South West, including the electrification of the Great Western Main line and a huge boost to school budgets. I have been touring the South West campaigning against Brexit for the last 15 months.'

Jayne Kirkham has lived in Cornwall for 13 years with her son who is at school there.

'Cornwall struggles with below average wages and higher house prices. EU investment here is vital. As a councillor I fight for fairer funding for Cornwall from Westminster and I want to provide a strong voice for Cornwall and the Southwest in Europe.'

Neil Guild lives in Taunton in Somerset and is married with two young children.

'As a professional working in the highways engineering sector, I understand the need for public investment in infrastructure. I'm an active member of the trade union UNISON and a former soldier; I believe the EU is vital in preserving both workers' rights and security in Europe.'

Yvonne Atkinson is a Devon and Exeter City Councillor.

'As a lawyer I am committed to making the EU more transparent, so the South West understands the huge financial and economic benefits of EU membership and the value of laws passed by the European Parliament in improving equality of opportunity for workers and family rights.'

Sadik Al-Hassan is a pharmacist in Bristol, local Councillor and a father of two.

'I care about what happens to our communities in the South West, what happens now and for our future. I want to represent the South West to protect that future and deliver for our communities.'
